Past-President's Message

On August 19, 2012 at mid-night we officially closed voting for our 2012-2013 MBCA North Texas Section Officers and Board of Directors. The full list is published in this newsletter and on our web-site. Please join me in congratulating and welcoming them to their new positions of responsibility in the North Texas Section. Their responsibilities are large and include guiding our section in providing you with the membership experience that you joined the MBCA for. To help them meet their responsibilities to you, our members, and the club, they will need your help, support and your ideas. Don't be bashful, say hello, share your thoughts and maybe even volunteer.

As I expect that most of you know, I ran for the position of Regional Director of the South Central Region and will be seated in that position on November 1st. The South Central Region consists of eleven sections such as our North Texas Section, located in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. As Regional Director I will represent the South Central Region on the national board of MBCA. I will continue as a member of the North Texas Section and will continue to participate in section events. I also thank all the members of the North Texas Section that helped make my term as president a memorable and enjoyable experience.

I look forward to helping the MBCA to continue to grow and continue to provide our members with the benefits, events and general experience that you expect.

Gene Jurick, Past President

President's Message

Passion – it's what motivates us and frequently keeps us going, driving us to be our best. All of us have at least one passion. Passion is also a fundamental element of the Mercedes-Benz marque. Mercedes-Benz is centered around passion, hence "The Best or Nothing." MBCA and our Section, by extension, are no different. We all joined MBCA for various reasons, including passion for the marque. We witness passion in our Club all the time – including the care with which the events of our Section are planned and executed. In 2012 our Events Committee, in conjunction with the tireless effort of many members, hosted some great events.

Our Events Committee has already met to begin planning events for 2013, and there was a lot of enthusiasm and passion across the room! We discussed and planned our recurring staple events such as the bi-monthly tech sessions; out-of-town driving week-ends; a dinner theatre event and a lot more.

But we're just getting started - I encourage your participation, leveraging your specific passion to join our events planning team. Please consider hosting an event or managing a responsibility in the Section; give me a call or join a Board meeting and offer to support our Section in some way utilizing one or more of your skills or ideas! Our strength is our Section and each of us makes it strong. Become even more active in the North Texas Section and please consider sharing your special passion with other members. It's very gratifying - both personally and to the group!

Winterizing Your Mercedes-Benz

Now is the time to take your Mercedes to the dealer or your favorite independent shop to prepare it for your winter driving.

Winter is the enemy of the car. Cold temperatures make it harder for an engine to work properly. Snow and ice limit traction. Potholes damage wheels and tires. Salt causes rust and gravel pits the paint. But there are things you can do to help your vehicle in this time of duress. Following are some easy steps to properly prepare your car for winter. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

1. Consider using snow tires.

The condition of your car's tires is critical during the winter. If the tires are worn or if they are high-performance tires, braking, acceleration and handling all suffer on slippery roads. Because of reduced vehicle capabilities, the likelihood of a crash increases. All-season tires will work to a certain point, but their effectiveness depends on their tread depth.

If you have the cash, consider buying a set of winter tires. Winter tires are optimized for snow and ice. They aren't magic — even with winter tires, your car will still perform worse on slick roads than dry ones. But winter tires provide more traction on slick surfaces than all-season tires.

2. Check your tire pressure.

Tire pressure is especially important during the winter, because traction is often at a minimum due to wet or snowy conditions. It's critical to have properly inflated tires, which guarantees the best possible contact between the tire and the road. A properly inflated tire will also help protect against wheel damage that might occur as the vehicle drives over potholes. Read your owner's manual to find the correct tire pressure.

In winter's lower temperatures, the air pressure in a cold tire will drop. Since air is a gas, it contracts when it cools. Keep this in mind if you are checking tire pressure. Generally, for every 10 degrees Fahrenheit change in ambient temperature, your tire's inflation pressure will change by about 1 psi (up with higher temperatures and down with lower temperatures).

3. If you have a four-wheel-drive system, make sure it is working properly.

A big selling point for SUVs is that many offer four-wheel drive, which improves traction in slippery conditions. But most people don't use their 4WD systems during the summer. And while a 4WD system requires minimal maintenance, it's still a good idea to check that it works properly before winter arrives.

Make sure the system engages and disengages smoothly, and that there are no strange noises emanating from the drivetrain when the system is in use. Check to make sure that the transmission and gear oil levels are correct.

If there are multiple drivers for your vehicle, make sure each of them knows how to operate the 4WD system. The owner's manual will state at what speeds and in what environments the 4WD can be activated.

4. Check to see if your engine requires lower-viscosity oil in the winter.

This isn't nearly as hard as it sounds. Viscosity simply refers to how thick or thin a fluid is. (Tar has a higher viscosity than orange juice, for example.) Engine oils are sold with different viscosity levels. When winter arrives, the outside temperature drops. The colder the oil is, the thicker it will be. A thicker oil doesn't circulate as well in an engine during start-up as a thinner oil would. If the oil is too thick, the engine doesn't get the proper lubrication.

To solve this wintertime problem, some engines require a change to a thinner oil. This may be more necessary on older vehicles, since many new cars already come with oil that's thin enough to withstand the winter. Even when the thinner oil is cold, it is still not too thick for proper engine lubrication. Keep in mind that an oil can also be too thin.

5. Inspect the belts and hoses.

Belts and hoses in modern cars lead long lives. But that doesn't mean they don't die. Cold temperatures can accelerate the demise of a belt or hose, so have them inspected before winter starts.

6. Inspect the wipers and wiper fluid.

The life expectancy of a wiper blade is one year. If your car's blades are older, replace them. There are a number of aftermarket wiper blades that are made for winter use.

Also check and fill your wiper fluid reservoir. You might consider adding wiper fluid that has been mixed with a de-icer. A harsh winter storm is the worst possible time for untreated wiper fluid to create ice on your windows or for you to discover your blades aren't performing properly.

7. Check the battery.

Batteries give little notice before they die, and they absolutely love to expire at the worst possible moment. Very cold temperatures can reduce a vehicle's battery power by up to 50 percent. If your vehicle battery is older than three years, have it tested at a certified automotive repair facility. Also, If the posts are corroded, you can clean them with baking soda, water and a small wire brush.

8. Check antifreeze mixture.

The ideal mixture of antifreeze (coolant) and water inside your vehicle's radiator is 50:50. If the mixture deviates from this norm, then hot- and cold-weather performance can suffer.

Most antifreeze you'll find in stores already comes pre-mixed, which makes this process much easier.

You can check the composition of a radiator's mixture by using an antifreeze tester, which is available at auto parts stores and is inexpensive and easy to use.

If the mixture is off, adjust it by adding more antifreeze.

9. Carry an emergency kit in your car.

A roadside kit doesn't take up much space and can prove invaluable in an emergency. Many companies sell preassembled kits, but if you want to save a few bucks, you may already have the key items around the house. Things you might want to consider carrying include:

- A flashlight, flares and a first-aid kit.
- Jumper cables, a tool kit and tire chains.
- A blanket, warm clothes, hat and gloves.
- Paper towels.
- A bag of abrasive material, such as sand, salt or non-clumping kitty litter. Use this for added traction when a tire is stuck.
- A snow brush, ice scraper and snow shovel.
- Extra washer fluid.
- Extra food and water.

10. Check the heater and windshield defroster.

Winter will put your vehicle's windshield defrosters to the test. It's a good idea to check that they are in working order. While you're at it, check the air-conditioner, too. An easy way to speed up the defrost process is to turn on the A/C. (You can leave the temperature dial on warm so you don't have to suffer.) And now is also a good time to make sure your heating system works.

Oktoberfest Membership Dinner

The Bavarian Grill, Plano Texas

On September 20, 2012 the North Texas Section of MBCA celebrated Oktoberfest at the Bavarian Grill in Plano. The Bavarian Grill is an authentic Bavarian style German restaurant in appearance and food and lest we forget, German Beer. We got the jump on the original Oktoberfest which kicked off on September 22, 2012 in Munich, Germany. While Oktoberfest is celebrated in many places in the world the 16 day event in Munich Germany is the only absolutely real Oktoberfest.

Oktoberfest all started on October 12, 1810 when Prince Ludwig, later to become King Ludwig the first, was married to Princess Therese. The citizens of Munich were invited to attend the festivities held on a field in front of the city gates. The field was named Theresienwiese (Theresa's meadow) and still carries that name 202 years later.

6.4 million People visit Oktoberfest each year. There are six different German beers served at Oktoberfest, all made in Munich. There are fourteen large tents and twenty small tents at Oktoberfest, the largest seats 8,450 inside and 2,450 outside. There is a huge quantity of beer and food consumed at Oktoberfest each year.

At our Oktoberfest dinner; a lot of German food and some German beer, too, was consumed. Our meal was called Munchener Bierkeller Schmaus (Munich Beer Hall Sampler). There were four different meat dishes served along with everything else you would expect in a real German dinner. The food was washed down with some great German beer, wine, soft drinks and probably some water, too.

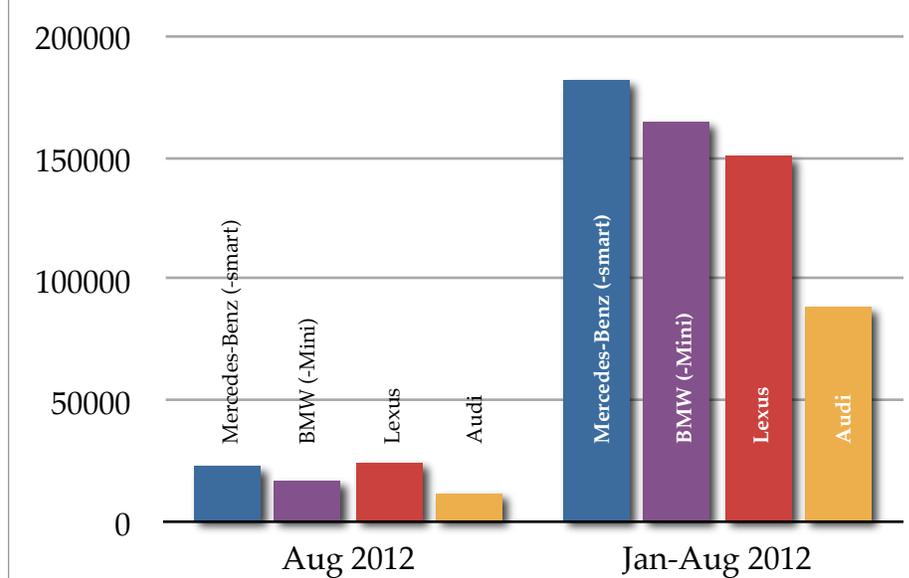

When it was all said and done we had a dining room full of some very satisfied and happy MBCA North Texas Section members.

As you can see, our members have so much fun at our events that they can't get it together to get any decent pictures.

But, hey, we're still working the problem.
